North Conway and surrounding areas have received snowfall amounts up to 50" and more that have transformed the Valley into a winter wonderland! Wildcat Mountain, Bretton Woods and Cranmore Mountain have opened already on weekends to take advantage of the early snow and the recent storms and hum of snowmaking means the other areas are right behind.

We're nothing but excited for this shift in the seasons and it has amped up the holiday cheer throughout North Conway and our surrounding villages. Lights are up, events are happening, fireplaces are crackling for apres skiing and shopping, and more! We hope you're able to schedule some time to spend a day, a weekend, or a week with us to take in all Mt. Washington Valley has to offer.
